

Current trends in radicalisation

Aleksandra Wesoly

Policy Officer

European Commission

Directorate-General for Migration and Home Affairs

Unit HOME.D3: Prevention of radicalisation

Trends in radicalisation

- Jihadist terrorism and extremism - the main threat
- Threat from violent RWE substantial and continues to evolve
- LWE sees an increase
- Internationalisation of phenomenon

European Commission activities

- Steering Board on Radicalisation
- Support to EU Member States
- The EU Internet Forum
- Regulation to prevent the dissemination of terrorist content online
- Radicalisation Awareness Network

COVID-19

- Huge impact on radicalisation, in all its forms
- „5G extremism”
- „hybrid” forms of radicalisation
- public debates influences
- new audiences reached

Improvements

- recognise the gravity of the problem
- policy makers, researchers and practitioners, private sector to work together
- being more agile in responding
- need for solid evidence-base.
- support the local level crucial

European Commission

THANK YOU!

countering powerlessness exclusion help experience practices European children inclusion borders Commission terrorist preventive recruiters propaganda security attacks grassroots information extremist prevent European networks multi-agency vulnerable practitioners preventive local terrorism help security community approach together influence hope young online belonging RAN radicalisation polarisation victims network lone actor authorities challenges empowerment projects internet prevention radicalised policy polarisation grassroots authorities extreme-right initiatives extremisme employment disaffection violent extremist communities Europol inclusive education neighbours